CLUB TO GIVE DANCE

G. A. R. Spring Reunion Favors
Conservation Movement in Resolution.

A vigorous membership drive for the Tulsa Overall club on Saturday was planned at a meeting of the board of directors yesterday afternoon.

Six booths, "manned" by young women and equipped with an ample supply of membership pledges, will be stationed Saturday in the postoffice, Hotel Tulsa, Third and Boston and Main at Third, Fourth and Fifth streets. A booth will also be maintained at convention hall during the dance Saturday evening.

Membership cards were distributed to a dozen companies yesterday. E. H. Poe, membership chairman, reported. Nearly 6,000 have signed the cards already, and Mr. Poe predicted that the number would be increased to 8,000 at least before next week. Four minute speakers will present the movement at young people's meetings in the different churches Sunday evening. "Clothes conservation, not the wearing of a uniform, is the essential in the overall movement," Mr. Poe said. "The pledge taken is as follows: 'I hereby pledge myself that I will not buy any new clothes of any kind unless it be absolutely necessary until such time as retail prices are reduced to a reasonable level."

A large crowd is expected at the dance in convention hall at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening. Members must wear either old clothes or their uniforms. A 10-piece orchestra will provide "jazz."

The G. A. R. is the latest organization in the city to place the stamp of approval on the movement.

Resolutions adopted at the annual spring reunion held in the First Methodist Episcopal church Wednesday afternoon read: "Whereas the business and oil men of Tulsa have organized themselves into an overall club on account of the high cost of clothing, therefore be it resolved by the G. A. R. post, ladies of the G. A. R. circle, and the Woman's Relief corps organization that we most heartily commend our fellow citizens for their good common sense and patriotic spirit in their club organization."

Men of the G. A. R. prepared and served the dinner Wednesday afternoon. Informal talks on patriotism were made. It was announced that a large delegation would attend the annual department convention at Blackwell May 18, 19 and 20.

Robbers Enter Window.

After climbing through a window, thieves about 8 o'clock Wednesday night ransacked the residence of J. S. McIntire, 415 South Clifton. About $150 worth of clothing and jewelry were taken. According to McIntire, the burglar cut through a screen with an ice pick and then raised the window. When Mr. McIntire returned from town he found a black-lack in one of the rooms of the house, which one of the high-waymen left behind.

Ice dried in stick form is used in connection with a pen that a New York man has invented, being made ready for use by dipping in water.

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"

I am of the opinion that one of the greatest stories ever printed, likewise one of the greatest plays ever produced upon the English speaking stage, is "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

And there are millions of Americans who will quite agree with me. When Robert Louis Stevenson gave the world this intensely dramatic classic, he not only achieved a literary triumph, but taught men a lesson they cannot, will not forget.

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" is a "different" story. It is a drama of a dual identity. And in the screen version, while following the story closely, the advantages of the camera's double exposures gives the production an added fascination.

Those who have read the book—or who have witnessed the play, will know what to expect when they attend the performances at the Majestic theater, beginning next Sunday.

It is to those who have not had the pleasure of viewing Mr. Stevenson's work, that I am directing this announcement. They will find no humor, no hint of the melodramatic, no fairy story, nor will they see modernized society.

But they will see a strong virile drama of a dual character that leaves no doubt. Dr. Jekyll—beloved by woman, sought by society, serving the weak and poor. Mr. Hyde—fiendish, revelling in London's underworld dives, strewing his wake with the victims of his crimes and depravity.

John Barrymore, America's representative actor, essays the role of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." His portrayal must be reckoned among the most intelligent and effective that he has offered on the stage or screen. He manifests a keen understanding of and sympathy with his role and plays it with finesse. His "Hyde" is more than a masterpiece of makeup; it is the living personification of cruel cunning. He makes of Dr. Jekyll a man almost god-like in form and character.

I have seen the picture and realize its worth. It is a perfect picturization of Robert Louis Stevenson's immortal story—but—

That is ALL you will see—the tale of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."
